

Northeast Lakeview College

Northeast Lakeview College (NLC), established in 2007 as one of the five Alamo Colleges, provides access to quality academic programs and career and technical courses that prepare students for future success in in-demand careers. The College serves more than 7,300 students from northeast San Antonio and Bexar, Comal, and Guadalupe Counties. Offering a wide selection of associate degrees, certificates, pre-majors, and programs such as cyber defense, social media, logistics, and pre-nursing, students completing Northeast Lakeview College have the skills they need to transition to the workplace or transfer their credits to the university.

Serving a diverse student population, NLC is designated as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI), with 53.7% of its student enrolled identified as Hispanic. Graduating its first student in 2009, NLC has seen steady growth in completion rates, boasting a total of 3,577 graduates to date. Additionally, Northeast Lakeview College meets the learning styles of its diverse student population, offering varying teaching modalities, including remote learning, online classes, face-to-face instruction, and flexible semester start dates.

A strong community partner and advocate for educational pathways, Northeast Lakeview College provides dual credit and other high school programs and opportunities. Housed on the NLC campus is the Judson Early College (JECA), a unique partnership with Judson ISD that allows high school students to attend college simultaneously and graduate with both a high school diploma and an associate degree. Additionally, NLC is home to the Texas A&M-Chevron Engineering Academy. Offered in partnership with Texas A&M University's College of Engineering, this unique program offers students an opportunity to pursue an engineering degree while co-enrolled at Texas A&M and the Alamo Colleges District. Upon successful completion of coursework at NLC, students transfer to an engineering program at Texas A&M University.

With 10 buildings, the college offers about 455,000 sq. ft. of academic space and sits on 257 acres at the corner of Loop 1604 and Kitty Hawk Road in Universal City, TX.
